DEAR SIRS: I have been a tobacco fiend for many years, and during the past two years have smoked 15 to 20 cigars regularly every day. My whole nervous system became affected until my physician told me I must give up the use of tobacco for the time being, at least. I tried the so-called "Keeley Cure," "No-To-Bac" and various other remedies, but without success, until I accidentally learned of your "Baco-Curo." Three weeks ago to-day I commenced using your preparation and to-day I consider myself completely cured. I am in perfect health and the horrible craving for tobacco, which every inveterate smoker fully appreciates, has completely left me. I consider your "Baco-Curo" simply wonderful, and can fully recommend it.

Opposed to Memorial Day. LADDONIA, Mo., May 28.-I have just been thinking about Memorial Day-why we keep it, what caused it, and whether it is best to make a public celebration of it or not. The question came to me: "What is the day Memorial." To make a long story short, I will briefly state as I see it: Over thirty years ago we had a family quarrel over a family question. We were divided on the subject and finally it ended in a big fight. During the fight many of our brothers were killed, and finally, after a long, hard fight, the minority of the family gave up, acknowledged they were in the wrong, and agreed to live peaceable the balance of their lives. When the family united all went to work to build up their home, and as far as possible forget their quarrel. They mourned together their dead brothers. Once in a while the victorious brothers would say to those they had whipped: "If it wasn't for us you wouldn't have a home," and then hard feelings would come up. Then both parties began to form into little societies and finally they appointed a day, Memorbroke loose and ran away, breaking ial Day, to talk over the past and bring to mind their dead brothers and how they were killed.

During the thirty years the family has grown, and, at least, four-fifths of them have been born since the fight. The new generation would have for-gotten and forgiven the fight of their fathers, if the fathers would have let them. Why then keep a Mem Day to remind us of our family fight?
Wouldn't it be wiser to let children's children forget and be a united family indeed? We believe it would be far roof on the deck of the college. The paper roofing was a failure.
